Margaret Trevathan Honored By Kentucky Library Association

Margaret Trevathan, librarian at the Calloway County Public Library, was presented with a special plaque at the annual Kentucky Library Conference held October 9-11 at Louisville.

The plaque reads as follows: "1975 Outstanding Achievement in Public Librarianship presented to Margaret Trevathan by the Public Libraries Section of the Kentucky Library Association."

Mrs. Trevathan was nominated for this honor by the local library trustees earlier this year. She was first appointed a trustee of the library in 1958 and served as volunteer and bookmobile driver before being appointed librarian in 1965.

The local librarian has worked with the Library Board and her staff to make the Calloway County Public Library one of the most outstanding in the state. The local library and Mrs. Trevathan were featured in an article in the August 1975 issue of McCall's Magazine.

Mrs. Trevathan is now working with the board and staff planning for the expansion of the library facilities in the addition now under construction to the library.

Also present at the conference to see Mrs. Trevathan presented with the plaque were Mrs. Diane Johnson, Mrs. Velva Maupin, and Mrs. Gerry Reed, library staff; Mrs. Carolyn Adams, bookmobile librarian; Mrs. Jean Blankenship, secretary of the Library Board of Trustees; Mrs. Martha Broach, Library trustee; Max Hurt, chairman of the Library Board of Trustees; Dr. A. H. Kopperud, retiring president of the Kentucky Trustees Association; Mrs. A. H. Kopperud, and Dr. and Mrs. Stan Hendrickson, members of the Friends of the Library Association.

RECEIVES HONOR — Margaret Trevathan, librarian at the Calloway County Public Library, has been honored for "outstanding achievement" by the Public Libraries Section of the Kentucky Library Association.

Alene Paschall Named District Dairy Princess

A Calloway County girl, Miss Alene Paschall, has been named as Dairy Princess of District 1 of the American Dairy Association of Kentucky. She will represent the ten counties of the first district in the state contest to be held February 8 and 9 in Louisville competing with the nine other contestants from the state of Kentucky.

Miss Paschall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carves Paschall of Hazel Route Two and her family operates a dairy farm featuring registered jerseys.

The local girl has served as Senior 4-H Queen and also as both Calloway County and District Farm Bureau Queen. She is now serving as secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Junior Jersey Cattle Club while continuing her studies as a freshman majoring in physics at Murray State University.

The new District Dairy Princess was awarded the Ada's College Scholarship award at the district meeting of the ADA held at Mayfield on Monday night. Miss Paschall was a member of the FFA Judging Team which won first place honors at the Mid-South Fair at Memphis, Tenn., and was also a member of the National 4-H Judging team which won honors at Columbus, Ohio, last year.

Miss Paschall was valedictorian of the 1975 graduating class at Calloway County High School where she was a member of the FFA Chapter and the Beta Club. Her hobbies are sewing, reading, and showing dairy cattle.

At the ADA meeting on Monday James Flood of Mayfield was elected to a two-year term as district director of the Kentucky Association and Sam Howard,

MISS ALENE PASCHALL, Dairy Princess

also of Mayfield, was named alternate director.

Albert Toons, a Graves County Dairy Farmer and Director of the ADA of Kentucky, said that the ADA is concerned with consumer demand and that the theme is "Milk Is A Natural."

Red Cross Directors Set Record Campaign Goal

In a short, 40 minute meeting, the Board of Directors of the Calloway County Chapter of the American Red Cross discussed and voted on several important items last night. This was the regularly scheduled quarterly meeting.

The Board learned of the acceptance of the election of Walter Apperson to the board of directors.

The Board also voted to set the local goal for the 1976 Fund Campaign at $11,816, the highest ever set in the local chapter's history. Of that amount to be collected, $6,797 will go to the local chapter and $5,019 will be sent to the national Red Cross.

Holmes Ellis, chairman, appointed a committee comprised of Leonard Vaughn, Robert O. Miller and Harvey Ellis to recruit a fund chairperson for the 1976 campaign. Ellis also announced a special called meeting on Tuesday, November 11, to disclose the name of the chairperson for the drive.

The Board heard the report of the executive secretary, Mrs. Jean Blankenship. Mrs. Blankenship reported that her office served 19 veterans, 19 active servicemen and 34 civilians plus giving financial aid to two from the chapter funds. There were eight first aid instructors teaching five classes of 69 students of whom all received certificates. In the water safety classes, there were ten instructors holding ten classes with about 300 students out of whom there were only 78 certificates awarded.

The Calloway County Red Cross Chapter now has an instructor who can teach First Aid to senior citizens; and there is a new swimming instructor for handicapped persons. First Aid is also being presented through the Life and Learning series at M. S. U.

Also in Mrs. Blankenship's report, was the fact that that volunteers at the hospital numbering 29 donated 326 1/4 hours of their time in September alone.

The following members were present at the meeting: Holmes Ellis, chairman; Sid Easley, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Cole, Stuart Poston, Dr. Rex Alexander, Leonard Vaughn, Henry Holton, Robert Moyer, David Dickson, Dr. Chad Stewart and Carol Hahn.

Governor Denies Charges

Gable Blasts Carroll For Giving Special Treatment On Race Dates

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A spokesman for Gov. Julian Carroll says the Democratic incumbent already has dealt with charges by Republican Robert Gable that Carroll gave special treatment to a company seeking racing dates for Kentucky tracks.

Gable, who seeks to unseat Carroll next month, charged in a news release Tuesday that Carroll "knowingly consorted and conspired" to give racing dates to a corporation with a criminal background.

The Republican challenged the governor to say whether he gave Sportsystems, Inc., special treatment "despite what he knew or because of what he knew about their operation."

Gable's question involves an agreement by the Carroll administration to give Sportsystems racing dates at two tracks: Latonia in Northern Kentucky and Commonwealth at Louisville.

The Kentucky Racing Commission had denied racing dates, but the dates were later granted under an arrangement supervised by a bank trusteeship.

Gable's release said the Emprise Corp., a subsidiary of Sportsystems, has a "criminal background." He said Emprise was convicted by a federal jury in California on charges of conspiring to obtain secret ownership of a Las Vegas casino-hotel.

The California conviction was cited by the racing commission when it originally denied dates for Sportsystems at Latonia and Commonwealth.

Carroll and officials in his administration have denied that the decision to grant the racing dates involved politics. While Gable campaigned in Eastern Kentucky Tuesday, Carroll toured the western end of the state and finished the day with a speech at Elizabethtown in Central Kentucky.

Carroll told a rally at Elizabethtown High School that he would "dedicate every possible resource" to improving Kentucky's educational system.

He said he was "not prepared to tell you we've got the worst school system in the United States," but he added: "It's not good enough."

He said his administration has placed strong emphasis on vocational education to "train persons for jobs they need to produce goods and services."

Carroll attacked Gable for promising tax cuts, calling such pledges irresponsible. But he did hold out hope for a tax reduction for the elderly, the group he said is worst hurt by continuing inflation.

Gable made stops at Whitesburg and Harlan and spoke at an evening rally at Whitley City in McCreary County, where his family's coal and lumber interests are located.

The GOP candidate described himself as the man who knows the "side hills and hollows" of Eastern Kentucky in contrast with Carroll, whom he called a "flat-land lawyer."

Gable said he is a "man trying to do something for the people rather than a career politician."

City Leaf Pick-Up On 'Call-In' Basis

Lee Bolen, superintendent of the Murray Street-Sanitation Department, reminded local residents today that the department's leaf pick-up is on a "call-in basis."

Bolen said that residents who would like to have leaves picked up by the department must call 753-5127 between the hours of 7 a. m. and 4 p. m. The crew will pick up the leaves within two to three days after the call is placed, he added.

All leaves that are to be picked up by the department should be raked close to the curb or streetside. Bolen stressed that residents should not put out brush to be picked up at this time.

The superintendent said that the city's second leaf vacuum machine will be in operation by this coming Monday which will speed up the process considerably. Even though a city ordinance provides that the department is not required to pick up leaves, Bolen said the crews will continue to provide the service at no charge to the resident and requested the public's cooperation.

Local Democrats To Open Headquarters Here Friday

Tom Harris, Democratic nominee for state commissioner of agriculture, will be on hand as the guest of honor for the official opening of the Calloway County Democratic campaign headquarters at Fourth and Maple in Murray at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Harris, one of nine nominees for statewide office on the Democratic ticket in the general election Tuesday, Nov. 4, is a former State Senator and commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources.

Dan Bazzell, county Democratic campaign chairman, said Harris will greet visitors for about an hour in behalf of the ticket headed by Gov. Julian Carroll, who is seeking a full four-year term as Kentucky's chief executive.

"We feel fortunate to have a nominee from the ticket as popular in Calloway County as Tom Harris to help us officially open our campaign here at the local level," Bazzell added.

He emphasized that all interested citizens are invited to attend the opening for refreshments and to meet Harris, who recorded overwhelming margins in Calloway County and the First District in his narrow primary election victory in May.

Besides Carroll and Harris, other Democratic nominees on the statewide ticket and the office they seek are: Thelma Stovall, lieutenant governor; George Atkins, auditor; Martha Layne Collins, clerk of the Court of Appeals; Drex Davis, secretary of state; Dr. Jim Graham, superintendent of public instruction; Frances Jones Mills, treasurer; and Bob Stephens, attorney general.

Meeting Scheduled

Democrats in Calloway County will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the campaign headquarters at Fourth and Maple to continue organizing for the fall election Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Dan Bazzell, county campaign chairman, said anyone who would like to become involved in behalf of the Democratic ticket in the campaign is invited and urged to attend the session.

A meeting of the Calloway County Democratic Executive Committee has also been called for Thursday. It will be held at the campaign headquarters at 8:30 p.m., according to Mary Jane Littleton, committee chairman.

HANGING OUT THE SHINGLE — Dan Bazzell, Calloway County Democratic campaign chairman for the fall election, gets an assist from Mary Jane Littleton, county Democratic chairman, as they put the finishing touches on the campaign headquarters at Fourth and Maple. The official opening of the headquarters and the fall election campaign by the Democrats is scheduled from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Friday.

FIELD FIRE — Members of the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Unit responded to a field fire at the farm of Marvin Lassiter, south of Lynn Grove shortly after noon Tuesday. Reports said hot ashes from a barn spread to a field and burned three or four acres of an already-harvested corn field. The fire threatened a barn and several acres of standing corn, but was contained by the squad. Seven men and three trucks answered the alarm.

Mrs. Doran, Speaker For Purchase Area Homemakers Meeting At MSU

Mrs. Adron Doran of Morehead will be the afternoon guest speaker at the Purchase Area Extension Homemakers Association to be held on Thursday, October 23, at the Murray State Student Union ballroom on North Fifteenth Street.

"Personal Development Through Volunteerism...What To...How To" will be the theme of the talk by Mrs. Doran who is the founder and director of the Personal Development Institute on the Morehead State University campus. The institute provides programs to university students, faculty, and staff, and also works with groups ranging from students in junior high school to the adult population of the region.

Mrs. Adron Doran
Guest Speaker

Mrs. Doran who has been First Lady of Morehead since 1954 has worked closely with her husband in his work at the university. One of her favorite endeavors has been her work with the Newgate Project at the Ashland Federal Youth Center and the Frenchburg Correctional Facility in helping to provide rehabilitation programs for the incarcerated youth.

The Morehead lady known as Mignon is well known in Western Kentucky and is an active member of the Church of Christ. She is former president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, served ten years as a member of the Governor's Commission on Children and Youth, was a charter member on the Kentucky Commission on the Status of Women, was selected as Outstanding Woman Kentuckian for 1971 by the Kentucky Young Democrats, and was voted Woman of the Year by the Cardinal Key National Honor Society. Mrs. Doran has served on the many boards and drives and is active in many organizations. She has been selected as Outstanding Educator of America for 1975, and is a former fashion model and public school teacher.

Another special feature of the afternoon program will be selections by the Calloway County Homemakers Chorus directed by Mrs. James B. Carlin with Mrs. Joe N. Prince as accompanist.

Fall 1975 colors lean toward royal wine shades, burgundies and chablis. Red and Persian blue are noteworthy. Loden and yellowed greens, rust, gray and black are important, too. Winter ices in lavenders and greens lend variety, teal makes a subtle appearance in smoke and heather tones. Fabrics and colors always lend excitement to the fashion scene—do be sure to read the labels before hand, so you know just what to expect.—Mrs. Dean Roper, Mayfield.

If you plan to do some painting, here are some clean-up tips:—When splatters or spills occur, wipe them up quickly. Latex paint can be removed with a cloth dampened in water. But for oil-based paint you need a cloth dampened in a solvent. If you use solvent on asphalt or rubber tile, wash the surface promptly with an all-purpose cleaner recommended for cleaning paint brushes.—For paint splatters on upholstery fabrics or carpets, immediate treatment is required. Sponge latex spots off with a damp cloth; oil-based paint with sponge and solvent. Next, you should use a dry absorbent cloth to pick up excess paint and avoid spreading. Follow this treatment with an upholstery or rug shampoo. Use spray paint with caution, preferably outside. If used inside, cover floor, etc. with newspaper or old bedspread, sheet, etc.—Mrs. Barletta Wraether, Murray.

Jewelry trends for fall: Necklaces are real or just-pretend, by the yard or barely enough for one or two snug lengths around. Bracelets come the more-the-merrier, matching or contrasting, to circle your wrist in wood, bone, horn or metal. Scarves are an essential accent, almost any way you want to tie them around neck, waistline, or head.—Sue Fraser, Bardwell.

+++++
Often attractive style pieces of furniture are discarded or left to clutter when their original use is terminated. For instance, the TV cabinet with doors that houses a nonrepairable TV. Why not remove the TV and add back and shelves. Depending on the original styling and the needs of the family, this storage piece could hold dishes, linens, records or tapes, books, magazines, toys, clothes, etc.—Mrs. Mildred W. Potts, LaCenter.

+++++
How often do your teenagers answer you questions with a one-word response? For example—Parent, "Where have you been?" Child, "Around," or "What have you been doing?" Child, "Nothing." This is an extremely irritating situation to the parents, but teens seem to insist upon these types of conversations. Why? One reason could well be that teens feel they have learned their lesson. They respond in this manner to avoid the lectures, sermons and criticizing comments they receive when they answer in a dialogue fashion. Teens have experienced their parents' act of turning a casual conversation into a drawn out monologue too many times. This short and sweet but irritating type of conversation is their defense. Communication and conversation requires skill and mutual respect. If parents give an honest effort at true communication with their teens, it may rub off and their teens respond likewise. There is no "Generation Gap" if we have meaningful conversation between parent and teen. But this true communication will be blocked by lectures, constant criticisms and fruitless dialogues. To be a parent, your teen will want to talk to you, must be a good listener first.—Judy Hetterman, Hickman.

Making sandwiches? Ham, turkey and chicken salad and deviled egg sandwiches need special care. They are all easily contaminated. You can freeze cubes of chicken and use them in preparing the salad later. All salads should be kept cold as possible.—Mrs. Maxine Griffin, Clinton.

+++++
Remember—cracked or soiled eggs can contain bacteria that can produce food poisoning. For your protection, use cracked or soiled eggs only when they are thoroughly cooked, warns U. S. D. A. egg specialists.—Mrs. Patricia Cutsinger, Benton.

Tree Planters
One timber-based company, admittedly the nation's largest, plants more new trees every year than the U. S. Forest Service, which controls 18 times as much forest land.

Rattlesnake Vigilance

The rattlesnake symbol appears again and again in early American flags. A flag of this type was the standard of the South Carolina Navy; one of its variants was the emblem of the Culpeper Minute Men of Virginia.

According to the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, one writer of the time quaintly stated that as the rattlesnake's eye exceeded in brightness that of any other animal, and she had no eyelids, she might therefore be esteemed a symbol of vigilance; that inasmuch as she never began an attack, nor, when once engaged, ever surrendered, she was therefore an emblem of magnanimity and true courage.

It was probably the deadly bite of the rattler, however, which was foremost in the minds of its designers.

COMPANY SALAD

Popular and compatible ingredients:
4 cups torn salad greens, preferably half watercress and half romaine
8-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
4 oranges, peeled and sectioned
Tangy Dressing, see below
Toss together all the ingredients, adding enough of the Dressing to moisten and flavor well. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
Tangy Dressing: Shake or beat together ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ cup red wine vinegar or lemon juice, 2 tablespoons dry vermouth and 2 tablespoons salad oil; add a tiny clove of garlic, crushed. Makes about ½ cup.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me settle an argument. A few nights ago, I was out with the same gal I always date. We're pretty close. She's very independent about a lot of things, such as opening doors for herself and things like that. Well, I learned to live with that until the following incident occurred:

We stopped at a garage to have something fixed on my car, and because she's a pretty good-looking girl, the mechanic began flirting with her. To start with, this annoyed both of us. When his talk became offensive, I spoke up and straightened him out.

Afterwards, my girl became upset with me, saying it was HER place to straighten the mechanic out if she thought he was out of line.

Granted, if she were alone, it would have been her place. But since she was with me, I thought it was MY place.

What do you think?

CHIVALRY LIVES

DEAR CHIV: Most women would be angry with a date who failed to straighten out a presumptuous stranger, but maybe your gal enjoyed it.

In any case, now that you know she prefers to fight her own battles, either give her that privilege or find a less militantly independent girl.

DEAR ABBY: Even though I am only 13, I have made up my mind to do something I think is very important. Before reading your column I never even gave it a serious thought, but now I would like to donate my kidneys and eyes to someone else after I die.

Juveniles need kidneys, too, and cannot use adult ones, so in case I die before I become an adult, I'd like to leave whatever organs are still usable to some child who needs them.

Abby, I am not planning on dying soon, so please don't feel sorry for me.

LAURA MYERS, GARDEN CITY, CALIF.

DEAR LAURA: To become donors, minors need the consent of their parents or guardians. And, Laura, please tell your parents for me that they have a beautiful daughter!

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you 10 years ago, but I didn't take your advice. My problem was that after 33 years of marriage, I found out that my husband was having an affair with a young woman who worked for him.

I told you that although I still loved him, I wanted to end our marriage.

You told me that I should bide my time, that as long as I still loved him I should try to forgive and forget, and that I should keep my marriage together, which is what he wanted to do.

My pride was so hurt that I divorced him, anyway. He married the young woman, but soon afterwards, he started calling me, telling me that he had made a terrible mistake. He said he still loved me, could never forgive himself for what he had done and wanted to come "home."

My pride still wouldn't let me take him back. Well, he died a year ago. He left a little something to his second wife, but the bulk of his estate he left to me. He was a rich man, and now I am a rich woman, but that doesn't matter. I guess he really did love me.

I wish I had taken your advice, Abby.

Search Now Open For Kentucky State Mother Of 1976; Blanks Available

The American Mothers Committee, Inc. with headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, is the official sponsor of National Mother's Day each year.

Its objectives are to strengthen the moral and spiritual foundations of the American home and give to the observance of Mother's Day a spiritual quality which highlights the standards of ideal Motherhood and recognizes the important role of Motherhood in the Home, Community, Nation and the World.

A "Mother of the Year" is selected in each state by a committee made up of state AMC officials and selected leaders of organizations engaged in religious or civic work within the state. From the State nominees a National Mother is chosen by a National Jury.

Nomination Blanks, issued by the American Mothers Committee, give specific information on qualifications, required materials and date deadline for nominating a worthy mother for Kentucky Mother of 1976. Nomination Blanks and material due by February 15, 1976. Nominating Blanks may be obtained by request from: Mrs. J. Duard Pate, Chairman, Kentucky Mother Search Committee, 9711 Galene Drive, Jeffersonton, Kentucky 40299 or: Kentucky Mothers Association, Mrs. W. F. Aton, President, 184 Bellaire Avenue, Louisville, Kentucky 40206.

North Murray Homemakers Club Meets At Home Of Mrs. Wilson

Mrs. Green Wilson opened her home for the meeting of the North Murray Homemakers Club held on Friday, October 10, at 1:30 p. m.

The president, Mrs. Edgar Morris, presided, and for the devotion read an article entitled "The Higher Step" followed by prayer. The secretary, Mrs. Charlie Crawford, called the role with nine members and one visitor, Mrs. T. C. Emerson, answering by naming "one thing for which you are thankful."

Information and tickets were given for the Area Homemakers meeting on Thursday, October 23, at Murray State University. The lesson on "Accessories" was presented by Mrs. John Workman and Mrs. Bailey

Riggins. The leaders said accessories well chosen and correctly used, adding interest in color, line, shape, and pattern make a very attractive room. They said accessories also personalize the room by expressing individual interests, family hobbies and likes.

Mrs. Esco Gunter directed the recreation. Refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Workman on Friday, November 14, at 1:30 p. m.

Questions And Answers On Judicial Amendment

(The following is a list of frequently asked questions concerning the Judicial Article.)

Q. Will all judges, including county judges, be appointed?

A. All judges in the Court of Justice will be elected on a non-partisan basis (Section 117). County Judges will be elected as provided by the Constitution.

Q. Does the Judicial Article replace the County Judge with the District Judge?

A. No. The County Judge will be relieved of his judicial duties, but nothing in the Article will be construed to limit the powers granted by the Constitution to the County Judge as the chief executive, administrative and fiscal officer of the county. (Section 124, lines 15-22)

Q. Must County Judges be lawyers?

A. No. Only judges within the Court of Justice must be attorneys. (Section 122)

Q. How much will the District Judge cost the county fiscal courts?

A. Nothing. The Article provides that all compensation and necessary expenses of the Court of Justice shall be paid out of the State Treasury. (Section 120)

Q. Will there be a District Judge in each county of a multi-county judicial district?

A. Yes. One District Judge will be elected from a multi-county judicial district, and he will appoint a Trial Commissioner for each of the other counties in the judicial district. (Section 113)

Q. Will the District Judge be initially appointed?

A. No. District Judges will be elected at the regular election prior to January, 1978. (Section 124 (4))

Q. Will the jurisdiction of the District or County Courts be determined by the rules of the Supreme Court?

A. No. The District Court shall exercise original jurisdiction as may be provided by the General Assembly. (Section 113 (6))

Q. Will the Supreme Court make administrative regulations?

A. No. The Supreme Court will review directly decisions of administrative agencies of the Commonwealth (those cases presently heard in the Franklin Circuit Court). (Section 111 (2))

Q. If all judges are to be elected, what is the purpose of having a Judicial Nominating Commission?

A. Only for filling vacancies and unexpired terms.

Q. What is the purpose of the Court of Appeals dividing into panels of three?

A. For more prompt disposition of cases, and to avoid having "one man opinions."

Q. What happens to revenue derived from fines and fees?

A. A study is being conducted by the Legislative Research Commission to determine what portion is needed to be retained in the counties. The County Judges Association is also working on a study to revamp the entire fee system.

Q. Does the Judicial Article do away with the office of Justice of the Peace?

A. No. It only relieves him of his judicial duties. He retains all other powers and authority granted by the Constitution.

Q. Does the Judicial Article do away with Police Courts?

A. Yes. All cases presently tried in Police Courts will be tried in District Courts.

Q. What court will have jurisdiction over probate matters?

A. According to the interpretation by the Legislative Research Commission, there appears to be a conflict between the present Constitution, the proposed Constitutional Amendment, and Kentucky statutes. However, unless changed by legislation, probate matters would remain in the county courts. The General Assembly has always had the ability to place the responsibility of probate matters wherever it may choose.

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

Veto Is A Serious Mistake

President Ford's veto of the tobacco price support legislation is a very serious mistake. He was wrong on the merits, wrong on the facts, and wrong in terms of the overall health and prosperity of the farm economy in this country.

This bill, which I helped get through the Senate, would have raised the price support for all types of tobacco approximately 10 percent — to $1.06 for burley and $9.9 cents for flue-cured. These increases were quite modest and would have kept the support price below the market price, thus insuring that whatever outlays the government made would be returned.

In his veto message, the President relied on the fallacious and patently erroneous arguments made by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz. These arguments were amply refuted in a congressional meeting with the President, and in a host of letters and communications from members of Congress to the President and his top aides.

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 8514 N. Main St., Dayton, Ohio 45415. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

Heartline: Will the interest I receive from money in the bank or my dividends from stock affect the amount of my Social Security disability check? L. T.

Answer: No, the only type of income that will affect Social Security payments is that income earned while working.

Heartline: I am 68. My husband passed away in January of this year. I received $10,000 from his life insurance. Will I have to pay income tax on this money? Mrs. E. B.

Answer: No, there would be no income tax if you received it in a lump sum payment. However, if it is paid to you in monthly allotments over a certain number of years, then it would be taxable.

Heartline: I am a son of a veteran who died of service-connected causes. I received dependency and indemnity compensation after age 18 while attending college until I married. I am now 20 and divorced. Will benefits be restored since I am still attending school? G. K.

Answer: Yes. DIC payments for eligible children may be paid between the ages of 18 and 23, while enrolled in a VA-approved school. Benefits are terminated when the child marries. Since January 1, 1975, benefits may be restored if the marriage is terminated due to death or divorce.

Heartline: I am covered under CHAMPUS and have to spend quite a bit of money on prescription drugs. Is this covered under CHAMPUS? D. N.

Answer: If you have met your yearly $50 deductible for out-patient care, then CHAMPUS will cover 75 per cent of the cost of the prescriptions.

Heartline: I think your information about bills introduced into the House and Senate is needed. Are there any more bills designed to do something about the terrible condition of some nursing homes? P. T.

Answer: Yes. Bills S. 115-116 — a 12-bill package introduced by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, to improve Medicare home health benefits, strengthen enforcement tools and improve training in long-term care personnel. The bills authorize grants to schools of medicine to assist in the establishment of departments of geriatrics and provide training for paramedical personnel to serve as medical assistants in long-term care facilities.

They also authorize grants for the training of physician assistants and to train nurse practitioners to provide primary health care in nursing homes. Medicare coverage would be extended to include services rendered by day care centers, and inclusion of home health services in a state's Medicaid program would be required. The legislation also authorizes campus-type housing for the elderly on a demonstration basis.

Roughneck Repossession

"In case you fall behind in your payments, we are entitled to re-take this merchandise by whatever means may be necessary."

So said a clause in the installment contract which Henry signed when he bought his television set at a neighborhood store.

A few months later he did fall behind in his payments. And one morning, while nobody was home, a team of repossessors pried open a bedroom window, vaulted inside, and made off with the TV.

Outraged, Henry filed suit for damages. At the hearing in court the owner of the store pointed to the repossession clause in the contract.

But the court said breaking and entering a private home was unlawful no matter what the contract said.

Most courts agree that creditors cannot resort to roughneck methods to re-take their merchandise. Even worse than breaking into a debtor's home is using violence against a debtor's person.

Thus: Repossessors trying to seize a station wagon, parked at the curb, were forbidden by the debtor to touch it. They hurled him forcibly aside and towed the vehicle away.

Here, too, a court held they had committed an assault and battery and granted the debtor's claim for damages.

Nevertheless, the law does recognize repossession, peaceably done, as a legitimate method of enforcing the creditor's rights.

Another debtor left his car in a parking lot with the key in the ignition. An alert repossessor spied the car, climbed in, and drove it away.

In these circumstances, a court ruled afterward, the debtor had no grounds for complaint. This repossession, said the court, "evoked no breach of the peace, no disturbance of public tranquility" — while effectively getting the merchandise back where it legally belonged.

Abortion On The Increase

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

First Lady Betty Ford, in a recent, widely viewed CBS television interview, declared that the Supreme Court action on abortion was "a great, great decision."

A few months ago, the Alan Guttmacher Institute of the Planned Parenthood Foundation announced the result of a national abortion study. Sampling included almost 3,000 hospitals, clinics and private physicians. According to a report in Medical World News, abortion increased sharply to about 800,000 in 1973, against 22,700 in 1969. Estimates call for approximately 900,000 in 1974 and subsequent increases at about an additional 20 per cent.

The number of abortions probably will soon exceed the number of tonsillectomies, currently the operation most commonly performed in the United States.

As legal abortions have increased, the birth rate has dropped about one million lower than authorities had expected, perhaps because of the increased use of contraceptives. Approximately 70 per cent of the new legal abortions replaced abortions which would have been done illegally without the Supreme Court decision. Long-range effects of legalized abortion are estimated to have little effect on limiting population growth.

The main benefit of bringing abortions within the law is the reduction of morbidity and mortality of the mothers.

The survey showed that abortions done in the first three months of pregnancy were relatively safe surgical procedures, carrying a death rate of 3 per 100,000, matching the safety of oral contraceptives and tonsillectomies.

Abortions are being used increasingly to empty the uterus of a defective fetus.

The greatest increase in abortions is now taking place in non-hospital clinics, apparently because of default on the part of hospitals.

The study shows one unfortunate aspect of the handling of abortions, namely that they are "less available to low-income women, who experience the highest rates of unwanted and mistimed pregnancy," according to Frederick Jaffe, president of the Alan Guttmacher Institute. Somehow, in the public interest, this lack of availability of abortions for those of limited means needs correction.

Q. Mrs. C.A. states that she is taking an extended trip to several foreign countries and that she is on daily medication. She wants some suggestions about how to be sure that she has enough and can get it through customs.

A. Take a good supply with you and carry it in your hand luggage because your heavier luggage may be lost or separated from you in travel. Take along duplicate prescriptions with the names of the drugs given in generic terms. Trade names may differ from one nation to another. Custom officers will give you no trouble as long as your medicine has a label showing its name, your physician and pharmacy.

Q. Mrs. G.E. is concerned because her 3-year-old grandson is still "drooling."

A. Don't worry. By the time your grandson is four or five years old, he will start swallowing the saliva instead of letting it run down his chin. Everyone secretes much more saliva than he is aware of because it is swallowed.

latest Associated Press high school football poll.

The most dramatic drop occurred in the State AAAA rankings, where last week's No. 2 team, Bowling Green, slipped to fifth after absorbing a 30-13 licking against Paducah Tilghman.

Mayfield, No. 2 a week ago in State AA, dropped to fourth after a 7-6 setback to Hopkinsville.

Meanwhile, Raceland fell out of the State A rankings after losing to Ironton, Ohio, St. Joseph's 7-6. Raceland had been ranked fourth.

The fall of the ranked powers caused some shifting in three polls. Owensboro, 6-0, vaulted a spot into second behind No. 1 Ashland while Tilghman, 4-1, scooted up two places to third, Lexington Bryan Station, 5-1, remained in fourth and Bowling Green was fifth.

In Class AA, Somerset, 4-1, moved up a notch to second and Corbin, 5-1, jumped a spot to third. Following Mayfield was Scott County, which held on despite its second straight loss, a 14-0 defeat to Franklin County.

Class A also had some juggling, with Harrisburg's climb into second place behind Frankfort probably the most surprising.

Harrodsburg collected four first place votes and 56 points to edge out Heath for the second spot. Heath had held the runnerup spot most of the season and last week clobbered Lone Oak 37-6. Harrodsburg, meanwhile, was blanking Garfield County 22-0.

Ft. Campbell took over fourth while Ludlow, 6-1, made its first appearance in the poll this year by taking fifth. Raceland, fourth last week, dropped among the also-rans.

In the midst of all that shuffling, the State AAA ranks were unchanged. Ft. Thomas Highlands, 7-0, was again a unanimous choice, followed by Franklin-Simpson, Shelby County, Glasgow and Conner.

St. Xavier, a 7-2 winner over

Trinity, held onto the No. 1 spot in the Jefferson County AAAA poll. Bishop David, which collected two first place votes, moved into second and Trinity slipped a notch to third. DeSales and Valley remained fourth and fifth, respectively.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Big Red Machine is in the driver's seat of the World Series, thanks to some sudden power and a spark from a home plate collision.

The Cincinnati Reds unlimbered their big guns and turned a controversial play at home to their advantage for a 6-5, 10-inning victory Tuesday night and a 2-1 lead in baseball's Fall Classic.

In tonight's fourth game, the Reds sent left Fred Norman against Boston right-handed ace Luis Tiant at 8:30 p.m. EDT.

"We won tonight because we're lucky...because the good Lord takes care of us," said Manager Sparky Anderson.

Anderson could think of no other way to describe the Reds' bittersweet victory in Game 3—a pulsating, tense affair that had everything, including the most talked-about play of the 1975 World Series so far.

This was the situation: with the game tied at 5-5 and a runner at first in the 10th inning, Anderson ordered pinch hitter Ed Armbrister to lay down a sacrifice bunt. Armbrister did as expected, but something unexpected followed.

The ball hopped a few feet in front of home plate and Boston catcher Carlton Fisk charged to field it. He had difficulty getting to it, however, because Armbrister was in his way.

When Fisk picked up the ball, he threw toward second base in an attempt to get the lead runner. But the throw was wild into center field and the Reds suddenly had runners on second and third base because of the error.

The play triggered a protest from the Boston bench, particularly Fisk and Manager Darrell Johnson. They felt that the batter had interfered with Fisk's play and therefore should have been called out by home plate umpire Larry Barnett.

The play became all the more crucial, because the Reds won the bases and went on to lead the contest on Joe Morgan's single.

A seething Fisk had nothing pleasant to say about Barnett after the bitter defeat at Riverfront Stadium.

"He blew it two ways," the Boston catcher said of Barnett. "The first time was when he didn't call interference on the play. The second time was when he didn't call the man out because I probably tagged him after I got the ball."

"You might as well throw a cross body block on the catcher, knock him down and go to first. It's a damn shame to have a call like that in such a game. I think it was a double play ball except for the interference. Instead, I get hit, throw the ball into center field and they wind up with runners on second and third with none out."

Johnson was equally incensed.

"I don't need to read the rule out of the rule book," he said. "We all know the rule and Armbrister did interfere with Fisk. The man is entitled to run to first base, but the runner can't come into contact with the fielder before he has the opportunity to field it."

"I went up to the plate umpire and when I didn't get any satisfaction, I went to the first base umpire. I didn't get any satisfaction from him, either. He just shrugged and didn't say anything. Their interpretation of the rule is obviously different from mine."

Barnett, of course, had his own interpretation of the rules, as did the Cincinnati camp.

"I ruled that it was simply a collision," Barnett said. "It is interference only when the batter intentionally gets in the way of the fielder. I signalled that the ball was fair and in play."

Dick Stello, the first base umpire who backed up Barnett during the heated Boston protest, tests on the field, said: "It was not interference. In such a situation, the batter has as much right to go to first base as the fielder has to go for the ball. To make it interference, the batter would have had to intentionally try to impede the fielder from going for the ball. He did not do this."

As was expected, Armbrister swore up and down that he did nothing intentional to block Fisk's way.

"I hit the ball in front of the plate and it bounced high," said the player in the middle of the dramatic controversy. "I started to break for first and Fisk just came from behind and bumped me. The play was behind me, and if he hit from behind, I would say he interfered with me."

If it wasn't for what Sparky Anderson called his "stupid" mistake, the whole business wouldn't have happened.

The Reds had a 5-3 lead going into the ninth inning with reliever Will McEnaney seemingly in control of things.

The Reds' left-handed bullpen ace struck out Fred Lynn for the first out and the crowd of 55,392 at Riverfront settled back for what looked like a comfortable Cincinnati victory.

Then McEnaney gave up a single to Rico Petrocelli and Anderson brought in Rawly Eastwick to face Dwight Evans. He didn't face him too long, for the Boston outfielder promptly parked one of his pitches into the left field seats to tie the game and send it toward its unpredictable climax.

"I made a dumb mistake, it's as simple as that," Anderson said. "I should have had Eastwick in there a batter earlier pitching to Petrocelli. I waited one batter too long to bring in a right-hander against Petrocelli."

Disappointed by the Boston lightning in the ninth inning, Morgan said the Reds weren't down by any means.

"We had the same situation in Pittsburgh (in the playoffs)," Morgan said. "We didn't panic. I just told Rawly to get them out and we would get a run."

Cesar Geronimo got things started in the 10th with a single and moved to third on the controversial bunt play. The Red Sox issued an intentional walk to Pete Rose to load the bases. Pinch hitter Merv Rettenmund struck out before Morgan came through.

Earlier, Johnny Bench hit a two-run homer for the Reds in the fourth. And Dave Concepcion and Geronimo blasted homers in the fifth, when Cincinnati scored three times. Before Evans' game-tying wallop, the Red Sox got solo homers from Fisk in the second and Bernie Carbo in the seventh. The total of six shots tied a World Series record for most homers by two teams in a game.

Middle School Tigers Win Two More Games

The dream of an undefeated season took one step closer to reality for the Murray Middle School eighth grade Tigers Tuesday night in Holland Stadium.

The Tigers ran their season mark to 4-0 by clipping Benton 24-8.

In the seventh grade contest, an improving Murray club evened its record at 2-2 by winning a 24-14 contest.

It was the powerful running of Nicky Hibbard that boosted the eighth grade team to its win. Hibbard had two touchdowns and scored a pair of two-point conversions.

Hibbard's first TD came with 3:27 left in the first period when he broke loose from a Benton defender and went 32 yards for the six-pointer. Hibbard roared through the middle on the conversion and Murray led 8-0.

Late in the second period, Hibbard streaked 44 yards into the endzone and took advantage of a super block by Charlie Wells. On the conversion, Hibbard plunged up the middle and Murray had a 16-0 halftime lead.

Early in the third quarter, the Tigers got their last score when quarterback Rich Rollins scored on a keeper from a yard out. Nicky Swift added the conversion run and Murray led 24-0.

Benton got its only touchdown and added the conversion with just 2:50 left in the game and it came against the second string defensive.

Besides Hibbard, Wells also had a fine game on the ground as he picked up several long gains on end-around plays. The entire defensive unit also played superbly.

In the seventh grade game, Tim Foster showed signs of becoming a super runner as he paced the Tigers to a win. Foster scored a pair of touchdowns and gained well over 200 yards on the ground in an outstanding effort.

It was a scoreless game until late in the second period when quarterback Greg Schanbacher scored on a keeper from three yards out. Gary Sims used a block by Darwin Bumpish to score the conversion and Murray led 8-0.

About a minute later, Benton used a 56-yard scoring pass and added the conversion to even things up.

But with 1:51 left in the half, Foster put the Tigers back out in front with a two-yard run and added the conversion himself to leave Murray ahead 16-8. But with 20 seconds left in the half, a 52-yard touchdown run put Benton right back in the game. But the conversion failed and Murray led 16-14 at intermission.

The most beautiful play of the game came with only seconds left in the third period.

Foster took the handoff and headed toward the right sideline. Nearly forced out of bounds, Foster balanced on one leg and spun off in another direction. He danced down the sidelines for 16 yards and a touchdown.

Gary Sims added the conversion and the final score of 24-14 was on the board.

In the contest, Eddie Requarth, Doug Henry and Jamie Morganti all had fumble recoveries. Robin Roberts and Requarth teamed up to block a Benton punt and Joe Oakley recovered the ball on the blocked punt for Murray.

The Tigers will close the season when they visit Heath next Monday for a pair of games.

Americans Trail Cuba In Medals At Pan Am

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP)—What was supposed to be a rout is instead—suddenly, shockingly—a race.

After just two days of competition in the VII Pan American Games, the Americans find their ranks somewhat stunned, in disarray, trying to regroup in the face of a headlong assault by the upstart Cubans.

The heavily favored U.S. effort, backed by more than a million dollars, was tied with Cuba in total medals, 26, but trailed by a decisive 14-11 margin in gold medals.

Brazil was next with 12 medals, including three golds. The Canadians also had three golds and 11 total, with Mexico next with 10, including two golds.

Seventeen more events were scheduled for finals today—six in weightlifting, where so far the Cubans have cleaned, pressed and jerked the heck out of their opposition.

Featherweight Roland Chang and his bantamweight counterpart Carlos Lastre won all three gold medals in each category Tuesday, accounting for six of Cuba's nine golds in the second day of competition here. On Monday, Cuba's Francisco Casamayor got the hat trick in the flyweight category.

Cubans also accounted for two of the Games' records bettered Tuesday.

Two Americans, Martha Watson and Kathy McMillan, appeared to have finished 1-2 in the women's long jump—both having broken the record of 21 feet 2 1/4 inches—until Ana Alexander managed an astounding 21-9 on the last jump of the day.

The petite Cuban had qualified poorly and was not considered a threat.

Earlier, young Silvio Leonard won the men's 100-meter dash with such reckless abandon, he plunged down a tunnel opening at the end of the course. Leonard, who suffered an ankle injury, traveled the distance in a record 10.15 seconds.

He was helped to the elevated winner's stand by the second and third place finishers, Hasley Crawford of Trinidad-Tobago and fellow Cuban Hermes Ramirez. There were fears Leonard would be unable to compete in the 200-meter dash and on the 400-meter relay team later this week.

The best any American could do in the 100 meters was a fifth by Clancy Edwards of Santa Ana, Calif.

Track and field finals were scheduled today in men's discus, men's triple jump, men's and women's 800 meters, and the 20-kilometer walk.

Other finals were set in men's fencing, judo and shooting—in which the Americans have done the best so far.

Herschel Anderson, a 38-year-old Army sergeant from Columbus, Ga., won a gold medal in individual air rifle Tuesday, and that, coupled with a victory Monday in the free hand pistol event, made him America's only double gold winner.

It appeared some of the anti-American tide might be turning after an impressive game in basketball between the Yanks and the highly regarded Mexico team.

The United States won 99-70 but Coach Marv Harshman praised the losers. "They played awfully well," he said. "They really tied us up at times with their zone. And for a time there in the first half, they took control of the boards away from us."

Pamela Jiles of New Orleans won a gold in the 100-meter dash with a time of 11.38 seconds.

James King of San Diego edged favored Ralph Mann of Pullman, Wash., with a time of 49.8 seconds in the 400-meter hurdles. Mike Manley of Eugene, Ore., loped to victory in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

The game started with the familiar catcalls and whistling from the fanatically partisan crowd of about 17,000. But by the end of the game, the home fans showed at least tacit respect for the winners.

"We have all played to big crowds before, so no booing is going to affect us that much," said Harshman. "The boys did not tell me they were nervous, but I must admit they probably were for a little while."

Harshman said the game was the best yet for his team, but he has warned his players about Puerto Rico, Brazil, Canada and of course the Cubans.

"They must all be looked at with a lot of respect," he said. "The Cubans vanquished the U.S. women's volleyball team with relative ease in another Tuesday night contest."

In baseball the Americans downed El Salvador 7-0. And in field hockey, the U.S. team and Mexico tied 1-1.

Other U.S. gold medals Tuesday went to David Ross of Houston with 598 of 600 in the English match shooting. The performance helped the U.S. team to a gold medal in the same event.

Pamela Jiles of New Orleans won a gold in the 100-meter dash with a time of 11.38 seconds.

James King of San Diego edged favored Ralph Mann of Pullman, Wash., with a time of 49.8 seconds in the 400-meter hurdles. Mike Manley of Eugene, Ore., loped to victory in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

Tech's Schrum Named As OVC Defensive Star

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Sophomore Mark Schrum is looking more and more like a seasoned veteran, especially after turning in a stellar defensive performance in Tennessee Tech's 37-0 rout of Eastern Illinois last weekend.

Schrum had nine tackles, three assists and two tackles for losses in earning Ohio Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Week honors.

Tech Coach Don Wade said that Schrum, a 6-foot-2, 195-pound linebacker from Lafayette, Tenn., turned in a "flawless performance" after grading of the game film. It should be noted that he led the team in tackles even though he did not play the entire game, since substitutes saw considerable action in the game.

Others mentioned for the weekly honor include:

—Eddie McFarland of Murray, who had 12 tackles and six assists and also intercepted a pass as the Racers defeated Tennessee-Martin 17-10.

—Jerry Spaeth of Morehead, who recorded 12 tackles and an assist, one tackle for loss and a fumble recovery as his team fell to Austin Peay 20-10.

—Junior Hardin of Eastern Kentucky, who spearheaded a defense that limited Middle Tennessee to just three first downs in the second half of a 34-24 loss to Eastern.

—Chris Keene of Middle Tennessee, who had 13 tackles and assists against Eastern Kentucky.

—Terry McCabe of Austin Peay, who recorded 13 tackles and two assists as Austin Peay won its first game of the season.

—Pee Wee Brown of East Tennessee, who had 11 tackles and eight assists in a 44-21 loss to Appalachian State.

Big M Club To Meet At Murray Club

In conjunction with Stag Night at the Murray Country Club, the Big M Club will hold its regular weekly meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Murray Country Club.

Honored at the meeting will be offensive player of the week Willie DeLoach and defensive standout Eddie McFarland.

Murray State grid coach Bill Furgerson will review last week's 17-10 win over Martin and will give scouting reports defense that limited Middle Tennessee to just three first

Wilt Chamberlain Now Free To Play In NBA

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Aging superstar Wilt Chamberlain, who along with Bill Russell ruled basketball's backboards in the 1960s, finally is a free agent today, but there appear to be some strings attached.

National Basketball Association Commissioner Larry O'Brien announced Tuesday that he had given the 7-foot former Philadelphia 76er and Los Angeles Laker the okay to deal with any NBA club he wants. Chamberlain's attorney, Seymour Goldberg, was not happy with the commissioner's action, calling it "a fraud, an absolute fraud."

Chamberlain, 39 years old and off the court for two years, last played with the Lakers and, up until Tuesday, had a valid contract with the team at a reported $450,000 a year. The contract continued through the coming season, although whether the Lakers would honor it almost assuredly would have wound up in the courts. Since the Lakers already had acquired two centers, including Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Chamberlain became an unnecessary commodity. The former All-Star didn't want to report to camp because he said the Lakers as much as told him that he wouldn't make the team anyway.

In a statement read to The Associated Press by O'Brien's office, the commissioner stated flatly that he had taken the action to get the Lakers out of an "untenable position."

He said: "Previously I stated and reiterated that Wilt Chamberlain must report to the Los Angeles Lakers and if the Lakers elected to utilize his services, I would personally intervene in any resulting controversy in order to determine the respective rights of the parties including the rights, if any, the Lakers retain in Chamberlain's services."

"However, weeks elapsed and Chamberlain has not fulfilled this requirement. His attorney has written letters and issued innumerable press statements, but in no way has there been a good faith effort to resolve this controversy.

"With our season a scant nine days away, these tactics have created an increasingly untenable situation for the Lakers in terms of their roster and for the NBA."

However, Seymour said in his conversation Tuesday afternoon with Mike Burke, president of the New York Knicks, who have expressed interest in obtaining Chamberlain, he learned that O'Brien's office had not told all.

Goldberg, contacted in Encino, Calif., said: "There is something missing in O'Brien's statement. Each owner got an additional line that wasn't in the statement which was released to the press."

"The additional line says, in effect, that in the event that Wilt Chamberlain signs with any other NBA franchise, the commissioner shall expect, according to league rules, for that team to adequately compensate the Lakers."

"I promised Jack Kent Cooke (Lakers' owner) that he would not get anything. He's not entitled to anything. It depends now on what Mike Burke wants to do."

Chamberlain jumped from the Lakers to the San Diego American Basketball Association team in 1974 to become a player-coach. A judge ruled, however, that he couldn't play for any team except the NBA Lakers, who held Chamberlain's NBA rights.

Midnight Practice

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — If you think you woke up early today, chances are Jacksonville University's 13 basketball players were awake first.

This is the opening day of practice permitted by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. So Coach Don Beasley called his seven veterans and six newcomers onto the court at 12:01 a.m. for a one-hour opening workout.

"We wouldn't let anybody beat us to the punch," the new head coach said. "It's a psychological thing."

Murray High To Visit Winless Marshall County Friday Night

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Who has the meatiest football team around? Mayfield, or maybe Paducah Tilghman. Right? Got to pick one of the winners. How about trying Marshall County on for size.

Marshall County sports a lineup with seven people weighing over 210 pounds apiece. When they run on the field, they look sort of like a school that trains bouncers for barrooms.

Marshall County will be hunting for its first win Friday when they host Murray High in a 8 p.m. contest at North Marshall Junior High.

And though the Tigers will be favored in the contest, you can bet nobody is taking the Marshals too lightly because of their great size.

Marshall County is 0-5 coming into the contest, Murray 2-4. The Tigers are fresh off an impressive 13-0 win over Trigg County while the Marshals are fresh because they didn't play last week since they had an open date.

"They will have had two weeks to work for us," Tiger Coach John Hina said.

"They've had the chance to regroup their forces. Before the season started, most football observers felt Marshall County would be one of the top teams in western Kentucky."

"They still have some of the problems that come along with consolidation. They're still trying to get the school all behind them. Any time we play someone close to us, it's always a little more of a rivalry so you can bet you will see a hostile Marshall County team Friday night."

It will be the last road game of the season for the Tigers who have the coveted pleasure of playing their last three games at home.

The win over Trigg County last Friday was by far one of the most impressive defensive efforts in several years. And the win was by far the most impressive one this season.

"The team really felt good about the victory. They feel like they have finally put it all together. We had two or three golden opportunities to score in the game but the thing we're happy about is we did manage to score enough to beat them."

"And another thing is we beat a real good club. We don't have any honors we can win other than our pride. Things not out of the window are the pride and honor of a comeback."

It might be hard to find a better 2-4 team in the state than Murray High. The Tigers had a lot of key positions to fill with inexperienced people. As a result, Murray dropped four of its first five games.

Now it seems the experience is developing and Murray is ready to make a late charge.

It's sort of like Hina said to his team the other day: "Who has beaten us?"

Reidland whipped the Tigers 19-14 and Reidland is now 6-1 on the season and unbeaten in the Class AA District race. Mayfield is 5-2 and ranked fourth in the state. And they won just 3-0 over the Tigers.

Then there was the convincing loss to Henry County which is one of the best clubs in west Tennessee. And then there was the spook, the 26-13 loss to Caldwell County in the game of "yellow flags."

Fact is, with the exception of Henry County, no opponent has really proved its been that much better than the Tigers. And so with all those things in mind, there's really no reason the Tigers can't finish strong with the added experience and salvage a good year.

It will be the Homecoming game for Marshall County. And of course, the Marshals will have two things in mind, crowning the queen and crowning the Tigers.

TOUCHDOWN—Tim Foster of the seventh grade Tigers picks his knees up high and scampers into the endzone for a touchdown. Foster had well over 200 yards in the Tigers' 24-14 win.

Bookkeeper Held Hostage Reported OK After Two-Hour Ordeal Tuesday

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — A 54-year-old bookkeeper held hostage at knifepoint for two hours says he's "okay" after the ordeal, which ended when a police car rammed a pickup truck to halt a careening chase along the runways of the local airport.

James Marvin O'Bryan of Owensboro was taken hostage Tuesday at the tractor dealership where he works, held there for an hour, then forced into the truck for the 70-to-90 mile-per-hour chase to the airport.

After ramming the truck, police freed O'Bryan and apprehended Kenneth Ray "Pete" Curtis, 26, also of Owensboro. Curtis was held in Daviess County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

O'Bryan said Tuesday night that, aside from a scratch on his neck and bruises on his arm and hand, "I'm okay, I'll be at work tomorrow."

The incident apparently erupted when police approached an altercation between a man and woman near the Holder Ford Tractor Co.

After police spoke to him, the man bolted toward the tractor dealership with patrolmen chasing him, police said.

When police entered the building, the man had grabbed the bookkeeper and was holding a weighted paper spike at his throat and a 13-inch long metal mowing machine attachment over his head.

"He told police to get back, otherwise he was going to crush my skull," O'Bryan said.

"We were begging and pleading with him," Police Capt. John Riley said.

Patrolman Bill Fenwick, who said he's known Curtis more than 20 years, said O'Bryan's captor would "talk friendly and then he would turn hostile, just like you flip a light switch."

O'Bryan said the standoff lasted about an hour and "he threatened to kill me 15 or 20 times during that period."

He said his captor then discarded the paper spike and grabbed a knife lying nearby.

"He put the knife to my throat and kept telling them to back up or he was going to cut my throat," said O'Bryan.

Still holding the knife to O'Bryan's throat, the man dragged him from the building to a company pickup truck outside.

He crashed the truck through a chain link fence gate and proceeded toward the airport.

"He was driving with his right arm around my neck and the knife to my throat," O'Bryan said.

Seven police vehicles followed the truck to the airport and pursued it along the runways at speeds up to 90 miles per hour, police said.

"I said, 'Pete, why don't you stop and give up, they've got you cornered.' He said, 'If you don't shut up I'll cut your throat right here,'" O'Bryan said.

Sam Smith, general manager of the tractor dealership who rode in one of the police cars, said he held the wheel at the airport while patrolman Tom Baker tried to shoot out the truck's tires.

Home Heating Oil Prices May Increase During Winter

NEW YORK (AP) — Home heating oil prices, which have been rising all summer, may increase another two to six cents a gallon this winter, according to dealers and government officials.

Supplies will probably be adequate unless a severe natural gas shortage causes a massive switch from gas to oil by large industrial users, they say.

Major uncertainties regarding prices are whether Congress and President Ford agree to extend price controls beyond Nov. 15 and whether Ford will decide to drop a $2-a-barrel tariff on imported crude oil.

With controls in place and the tariff on, the Federal Energy Administration predicts a rise of about two cents a gallon in heating oil prices by December.

With controls and the tariff off, the FEA says the price could rise about six cents a gallon, or to 38 cents a gallon wholesale.

The controls limit the prices changed on 40 per cent of domestic crude oil, but if removed the crude could rise to world market prices.

FEA says heating oil retail prices currently are around 38 cents a gallon, including a 6-to-8-cent-a-gallon dealers' mark-up.

Even without decontrol, some dealers groups in New York and New Hampshire are predicting 3-to-6-cent-a-gallon increases.

The price of home heating oil has risen steadily since just before the 1973 Arab embargo, when it sold for around 20 cents a gallon wholesale. Domestic producers attribute the rise to higher crude costs.

This past summer, despite slack demand and abundant supplies, heating oil prices continued to rise. Since May, for example, Mobil Oil Corp. has raised prices four cents and Texaco Inc. 4.6 cents a gallon.

Now, with winter approaching, many companies are shifting price pressure to heating oil from gasoline.

On Tuesday, Exxon Corp. announced a penny-a-gallon rise in the price of heating oil.

According to FEA, retail heating oil prices have risen from 25.4 cents a gallon in October 1973 to 37.9 cents a gallon in August.

Agenda May Touch Off Another Controversy At NKSC Meeting

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When Northern Kentucky State College regents meet today, one item on the agenda may touch off another controversy over W. Frank Steely, the school's former president.

He resigned last month, while his administration was being probed, but Steely still has tenure as a history professor. The question is: will he exercise his option and remain on campus?

Steely refuses to disclose his plans. Some regents, including James Poston, believe that if the former president chooses to stay, it will be embarrassing.

"I'm hopeful that he won't stay," said Poston. "There are other board members who think the way I do."

Poston pointed out that the Highland Heights, Ky., college is searching for a new president and "if I were coming in as that president, I wouldn't want someone around who had held the job five years."

Steely took over in 1970 when Northern Kentucky opened. Since his resignation, the post has been filled on an interim basis by Dr. Ralph Tesseneer.

Poston said that under an agreement, which the board must approve, Steely can continue to use the president's off-campus home at Ft. Mitchell and also draw his $39,000 salary until June 1976.

"We worked out these arrangements at an informal meeting about the time that Steely resigned," Poston continued. "The situation was explained to him and he asked whether he could remain as a professor. He was given a reluctant 'yes.'"

Poston said he was unsure of Steely's plans but "I think he should leave. Apparently this whole thing has caused little more than a ripple among the student body but there probably is still some concern among faculty members."

Poston, a Ft. Thomas attorney, headed the committee which looked into charges that, as president, Steely had condoned perjury and fostered academic dishonesty and violations

Gary W. Overbey Now Stationed At Base, Belton, Mo.

Airman First Class Gary W. Overbey is now stationed at the USAF Hospital, Richard Gebaur Air Force Base, Belton, Mo.

Prior to his present assignment, Airman First Class Overbey was stationed at the USAF Hospital, Davis Monthan, Tucson, Arizona, after completing on the job training direct duty assignment at the Tucson hospital.

Overbey entered the service on May 30, 1973, and took his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He attended tech school and a medical fundamentals course at Wichita Falls, Texas, before being transferred to Tucson.

The former Murray man, son of Lawrence Overbey and Mrs. Ralph Morris of Murray, is married to the former Pam Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Belmon Wilson of Murray.

Taylor, Burton Remarried

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were remarried last Friday afternoon at Kasane, in northern Botswana, the district commissioner's office in Chobe, Botswana, reported today.

The office said the actor and actress were married by District Commissioner Ambrose Masalila and that the marriage was officially registered in his office.

The office said Burton registered as Richard Walter Burton and Miss Taylor as Elizabeth Rosamund Taylor.

Miss Taylor, 43, and Burton, 49, were reconciled in Switzerland in August after 14 months of divorce. He is her fifth husband, she his second wife. They were married in 1964 after a romance that began when they were costarring in the movie "Cleopatra" in Rome.

They went to Botswana, north of South Africa, on Oct. 6 after a visit to Johannesburg for a celebrity tennis tournament for charity.

of faculty members' rights.

Steely, however, denied that his resignation was generated by the charges against him.

Board Chairman Kenneth R. Lucas also said the terms and conditions of Steely's continued employment "have been discussed with him and, hopefully, we are going to have everything resolved."

"If Steely decides to remain he has every right to do so. To terminate a tenured professor, the regents would have to find him guilty of incompetence, or failure to perform his duty, or immorality," Lucas said.

Lucas ruled out the possibility that the original accusations against Steely "could be used as the basis for taking action to dismiss him as a professor."

Lucas said Steely, now 50, isn't teaching but is working on a history of the college, located at Highland Heights.

Another regent, Falmouth newspaper publisher Warren Shonert, said he was still attempting to learn "what kind of financial deal is being proposed for Dr. Steely. I wasn't invited to that meeting last month when some board members worked things out."

Lucas explained, however, that the session, held in Cincinnati, was "an informal one. We had to act quickly because Steely was resigning and we contacted as many members as we could that day."

Shonert, who agreed that he had reluctantly supported Tesseneer as interim president, said he now "is backing him in what he is trying to do. He wants what we want — peace and tranquility on the campus."

Tesseneer, meantime, refuses to comment on whether he is seeking the presidency on a permanent basis. "I've been spending my time meeting with faculty members and employees to dispel any tension that might exist and to learn what, if anything, is bothering them."

Tesseneer, formerly the college's vice president for academic affairs, said he's detected no dissatisfaction among the 6,000 students.

"The door to my office is open and if people who are unhappy don't enter, then I go looking for them," he said.

Tesseneer said he strongly supports Gov. Julian Carroll's recommendation that Northern Kentucky State College be designated as a university "to give it parity with the other regional schools in the state."

"This would be a good move," said Tesseneer. "For one thing, it would allow us to add extra graduate programs. It would speed our growth, and that's what we want to do — grow."

Deaths and Funerals

Austelle Crouse Dies Suddenly At Home On Tuesday

Austelle Crouse died suddenly Tuesday at 9:15 p. m. at his home on Murray Route One, Penny-Airport Road. He was 60 years of age.

The deceased was self employed as a mechanic and was a member of the Spring Creek Baptist Church. Born February 23, 1915, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late Zeller Crouse and Lillie Taylor Crouse.

Mr. Crouse is survived by his wife, Mrs. Virginia Suiter Crouse, to whom he was married on December 18, 1937; one daughter, Mrs. Marvin (Delois) Scott, and five grandchildren, Kim, Kathy, Rodney, Tracy, and Miltie Scott, all of Kirksey Route One; three brothers, Maurice and Z. B. Crouse, both of Murray Route Two, and Laverne Crouse of Murray Route Eight.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete but friends may call at the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home.

Heather Andersen Killed Saturday In Front Of Home

Heather Lynn Andersen, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Lee Andersen of Atlanta, Ga., was killed while riding her bicycle in front of her home on Saturday, October 11. Reports are she was killed by a hit and run driver.

The little girl had visited frequently in Murray at the home of her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andersen. Her father is an attorney in Atlanta and her mother is a foreign language department head at Crestwood High School.

Memorial services were held Monday in Atlanta.

Survivors include her parents, her paternal grandparents, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lorzeler of Florida.

Funeral Is Today For Mrs. Thompson

Final rites for Mrs. Georgia Ann Thompson of Hardin Route One are being held today at one p. m. at the chapel of the Collier Funeral Home, Benton, with Rev. R. J. Burpoe and Rev. Dennis Waters officiating.

Serving as pallbearers are grandsons with burial to be in the Horn Cemetery.

Mrs. Thompson, age 90, died Monday at 1:50 a. m. at the Benton Municipal Hospital.

Survivors are six daughters, Meadames Mary Lee Bogard, Reba Lovett, Lola Darnall, Nellie Lovett, Emma Travis, and Pinkie Poole; two sons, Wilson and James H. Thompson; three sisters, one brother; twenty-two grandchildren; thirty-one great grandchildren; six great great grandchildren.

Edward Henson Of Hardin Dies With Rites Held Today

Edward Henson died Monday at 8:55 p. m. at the Benton Municipal Hospital. He was 76 years of age and a resident of Hardin.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Jewell Henson; one daughter, Mrs. Clay Johnson of Benton Route Eight; one son, Charles Henson of Hardin; one sister, Mrs. Clifton Edwards of Oak Park, Mich.; one brother, Jamie Henson of Paducah; three grandchildren; three great grandchildren.

Funeral services are being held today at three p. m. at the chapel of the Collier Funeral Home, Benton, with Rev. James Hale officiating. Burial will be in the Edwards Cemetery.

Dr. Chrisman, Jr. Dies Monday With Funeral Thursday

Dr. R. B. Chrisman, Jr., age 64, 834 Anasapasia Avenue, Coral Gables, Fla., died about midnight Monday night at his home. The deceased had been a practicing physician in Coral Gables from 1946 until his retirement in 1971. He specialized in obstetrics and gynecology and served as a colonel in the Army Medical Corps in World War II.

Dr. Chrisman was born in Hazel and was the son of the late R. B. Chrisman, Sr., and Pearl Mason Chrisman. He attended Murray State College and graduated from the University of Tennessee Medical Unit at Memphis, Tenn. He was a member of the American, Southern, Florida, and Dade County Medical Associations and was a delegate to the American Medical Association for ten years.

The deceased was a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Chrisman, two daughters, Miss Betty Chrisman and Mrs. G. W. McMillan, one son, Richard E. Chrisman, and three grandchildren, all of Coral Gables, Fla.; stepmother, Mrs. Marian Chrisman of Paris, Tenn.

Private services will be held Thursday at the Woodlawn Park Cemetery in Miami, Fla., with the Philbrick and Son Funeral Home of Coral Gables, Fla., in charge of arrangements.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy take the form of donations to the John T. Macdonald Hospital Foundation Drive, 5000 University Drive, Coral Gables, Fla.

Supreme Court Rules Out FPC Tactic To Deal With Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a growing natural gas shortage expected this winter, the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled out a tactic which the Federal Power Commission considered its best hope of providing an immediate relief.

By barring 180-day exemptions from federal price controls on natural gas, the court left it squarely up to Congress to decide whether to permit such exemptions which in effect temporarily lifted the price controls that are blamed by the natural gas industry for shortages.

Even if Congress takes action later this year to permit the exemptions, however, that would provide only partial relief for the expected shortages.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates that temporary exemptions from federal price controls would make it possible for interstate pipelines to buy an additional 200 billion to 400 billion cubic feet of gas this winter at unregulated prices up to three or four times as high as the federal ceiling price.

But this is only a fraction of the total shortage, forecast at about 2.9 trillion cubic feet. Meanwhile, concerned about suspicions that some producers or pipelines may not have been trying as hard as they could to meet their contract obligations for gas deliveries, the FPC announced Tuesday that it will crack down on any who are unnecessarily reducing their deliveries.

The FPC did not cite any specific examples, but said such questions have arisen through congressional hearings "as well as in the day-to-day administration" of the Natural Gas Act by the FPC.

The FPC said it will hold pipelines and gas producers responsible for delivering their obligated amounts of natural gas or explaining why they can't. When appropriate, the FPC said it will take administrative action or go to court to enforce gas delivery obligations.

Gas shortages have been growing since about 1971. Both the industry and members of the FPC, including outgoing chairman John N. Nassikas, have blamed them on the legal requirement that the FPC regulate the price of interstate gas sales.

They say this has diverted much of the natural gas away from the interstate market, to the higher-price intrastate market which is outside federal regulation.

In an effort to give the pipelines more of the gas available on the unregulated market, the FPC permitted "emergency" purchases without price ceilings for as long as 180 days during the heating season of 1973-1974.

The spokesman said some 196 billion cubic feet of gas were purchased under 180-day exemptions that season. But the procedure was challenged by the Consumer Federation of America, the American Public Gas Association, the American National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Convict Scrawls A Message Of Thanks To Sheriff's Wife

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (AP) — A convicted cop killer who had escaped from a federal prison in Illinois scrawled a message of thanks in a Bible given to him by the wife of a county sheriff whose deputies apprehended the fugitive here.

Henry M. Gargano, serving a 199-year sentence for killing two police officers during a Chicago bank robbery, was held in the Greene County Jail for several hours after he was picked up Tuesday, until authorities returned him to the federal prison in Marion, Ill.

"In appreciation to the decent and humane treatment from all the people of the Greene County Jail... my particular regards to Marge Byers, whose interest and compassion will always be in my thoughts."

"If I ever do come to accept Jesus, it will be through Marge's doing. I say this in sincerity," Gargano wrote in the New Testament that Mrs. Byers, wife of Sheriff Orval "Bub" Byers, had given him.

"I'll write to you sometime in the future," the 43-year-old convict wrote in a postscript to

Mrs. Byers. The sheriff's wife spoke with Gargano after he was booked into the county jail. As is her custom, she gave the new prisoner a copy of the New Testament and offered him spiritual counseling, trying to convince him to turn to a life other than crime.

"They always say, 'That's all right for you because you believe in God,' but I always tell them that religion is free — anyone can believe in God," said Mrs. Byers, who lives with her husband in the sheriff's quarters at the jail.

"It's just my way of trying to rehabilitate people." Authorities say Gargano may have been the ringleader in Friday's escape of five prisoners from the federal prison. The men reportedly used a homemade electronic device, similar to a remote control garage door opener, to trip the locks on the gates of the prison, considered to be the most secure in the nation.

Only one inmate remained at large today after Gargano's apprehension near this community about 100 miles from the Illinois prison. Two others were captured Monday night and another was picked up Sunday.

Anti-Busing Boycott Not Very Effective In Louisville Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An anti-busing boycott of Jefferson County schools apparently has not been very effective today, with most high schools checked reporting attendance "pretty good" or "near normal."

Attendance figures for the day weren't yet available, but in spot checks of schools hit hard by a previous boycott Oct. 1-3, principals reported attendance apparently not down seriously.

The boycott was called for by several anti-busing groups to protest court-ordered busing in Jefferson County for school desegregation.

The earlier boycott cut attendance in county schools by more than half, school officials said.

Tuesday, police broke up the first large clash between white and black students at a school since the desegregation program in Jefferson County began Sept. 4. No serious injuries were reported in the fight, which involved 20 or more students outside Iroquois High.

A number of peaceful antibusing protests were held Tuesday night, with no disruptions reported.

Leaders of Concerned Parents, Parents for Freedom, Inc., and other anti-busing groups asked members and other parents to back the boycott starting today.

Lowell Hughes, president of Parents for Freedom, went further Tuesday night, urging about 100 persons at a protest meeting to support a more intense boycott aimed at closing down the schools by Nov. 1.

Sue Connor, president of Concerned Parents, called Sunday for a boycott today and Friday. A Concerned Parents spokesman said Tuesday that many indicated support, but that she had "no way of knowing how many" would take part.

A boycott Wednesday through Friday, Oct. 1-3, reduced attendance in the city-county school system by more than half on the first day, school officials said. Attendance gradually increased the next two days, and approached normal levels the following Monday.

The school system has about 120,000 pupils, about 20 per cent of them black. Some 22,600 — half of them black — are being bused under the court-ordered desegregation program that began this term.

The boycott was called for today and Friday because Thursday is a holiday for all but elementary school students, and they will be dismissed early, at 1 p. m. The day off was scheduled several weeks ago to give teachers a chance to catch up on extra paperwork they face under the desegregation plan.

Members of one anti-busing group, Save Our Community Schools, Inc., have been advised not to participate in the boycott, said the group's secretary, Jean Ruffra. She said the group prefers to fight court-ordered busing through court action and peaceful demonstrations.

"We have never advocated a boycott and we don't intend to advise our members to go along at this time," Mrs. Ruffra said. "Boycotting schools is not the answer. It's a detriment to the children."

"As far as we know, no area has succeeded in reversing a court decision through boycotting," she said.

At Iroquois High, Asst. Principal Gene Lewis said the student row that broke out about noon was a racial fight.

Police and school officials said each side blamed the other for starting the incident, which occurred when students were outside during a fire drill.

One white and one black youth began fighting and others joined in, officials said. Two white students and a black student were treated for cuts, and one white student was arrested for carrying, but not using, a knife, police said.

Police Officer Carl Yates said "the boys, after they were dispersed, moved out of the area and continued to mill around the school for a while. Then they were told to leave the area and they left."

Most of the protests that commenced after dark were small ones, but one, held in the eastern part of the county by Concerned Parents, Inc., attracted a crowd of about 400. The group had a permit and a Louisville police escort, and no disturbances were reported.

Fall Conference Of State Reading Association Held

Murray State University and the Murray Area Council of the International Reading Association jointly hosted the thirteenth annual fall conference of the Kentucky State Council of the International Reading Association on October 10 and 11 at Murray State University. Approximately 300 people attended the conference which included three all-day institutes, a general session Friday evening, and thirteen sessions on Saturday.

Consultants for the institutes included Mrs. Ruby O'Bryan, Hardin County Schools; Dr. Tom Rakes, Memphis State University; Mrs. Linda Wermeister, Dr. Yancey Watkins, Dr. Larry Salmon and Mrs. Jody Anderson from Murray State University. Speaker for the general session was Dr. Jack Humphrey, Director of Elementary Education and Reading Services for Vanderburgh School Corporation of Evansville, Indiana.

The conference was well attended by Murray area educators. Mrs. Nell Tackett of the Murray Area Council of IRA coordinated a reception following the general session on Friday evening.

Good Sales Reported By New Car Manufacturers

By OWEN ULLMANN, Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Strong initial sales of 1976 cars helped the nation's auto makers launch the new-model year in October with their best performance for the first 10 days of a month in nearly two years.

Deliveries of 243,842 cars during Oct. 1-10 were up 13 per cent from 216,110 last year, marking only the second time this year that sales have out-paced those of the same year-earlier period.

The sales figures, released Tuesday, provide the most convincing evidence yet that the industry was pulling out of its longest and deepest slump since the Great Depression.

The daily sales rate of 27,071 — there were nine selling days in the span — was the highest for an early-month period since November 1973, when the energy crisis sent sales toppling.

Auto executives credited the industry's showing to strong initial sales of the higher-priced 1976 cars, the first positive consumer response to new-model introductions in three years.

Meanwhile, Chrysler Corp., the last of the companies to put its 1976 cars on sale, debuted its 1976 lineup today, with formal introduction of most models slated for Thursday.

Company officials predicted the industry, including imports, would sell 10 million cars and 2.8 million trucks in the model year. The forecast was in line with sales estimates by other auto makers.

Chrysler, hardest hit by the industry's slump, is offering a new lineup of compact cars which the firm is counting on heavily to regain some of market share it has lost to the competition in the past year. The new Plymouth Volare and Dodge Aspen will not go on sale until early December.

Chrysler was the only company to report a decline in the latest period, with sales off 14 per cent from last year and its traditional 15 per cent market share down to 9.7 per cent. Analysts attributed the decline to the firm's late introduction of 1976 models.

GM sales were up 17 per cent in the period, partly due to strong sales of the new mini Chevette, the smallest U.S.-built car. GM said it sold 6,100 Chevettes in the first eight days after the car's introduction and has orders for another 14,300.

Ford was up 16 per cent and AMC was up 25 per cent.

McCage Brothers Have Two Approaches To Same Goal

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mike McCage, 23, is an ensign, a Navy public affairs officer. John McCage, 18, is a recruit whose immediate aspiration is to become a rated Navy aviator, electrician's mate.)

Two approaches — individual and tailored — bear the same ultimate goal — a career in the U. S. Navy.

Recently the brothers, sons of Johnny and Geneva McCage of Murray, rappé about the differences.)

Mike McCage arrived at exactly where he wants to be through a somewhat circuitous route. With a degree in Speech and Journalism from Murray State University, he worked as a radio announcer before entering the Navy. Mike prefers public affairs over any other career and was able to join the 1650 (public affairs) community, working first for the Chief of Naval Education and Training, Pensacola, Fl. He now is enroute to Washington with orders for staff duty under the Chief of Information.

John chose the enlisted route. After three weeks of recruit training at Orlando, Fl., his older brother interviewed him to see how it was working out.

Dismissing the suggestion he might have joined the Navy to follow in Mike's footsteps ("I told you before you joined I was going the next year"), he said the first three weeks were the hardest and things were becoming routines.

"They're trying to get you to follow orders and be able to understand commands quickly, as well as weed out the guys who can't hack it," he explained. "Then it starts getting easier."

Asked if he had made any new friends, John replied:

"Everybody in the company is my friend and I have four or five best friends — except the people in my squad," he laughed.

A recruit squad leader, John said the men in his squad were 4.0.

"We work all the time. If they are unsat, it comes down on me. We've learned to cooperate and work together."

John said recruits spend a lot of time drilling on the "grinder," and are continually inspected. He had high praise for the company commanders who help recruits make the transition to military life.

What is John's idea of the "real" Navy?

"... depends on whether I'm ashore or at sea. I guess I'll just wait and find out."

Mike, wondering about his next duty — in the nation's capital — agrees.

State's Wild Rivers Receive Monthly Exam

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky's protected wild rivers get a physical checkup once a month from a staff of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (NREP).

"By monitoring the wild rivers regularly, we keep them clean and natural," said Wendell Van Hoose, supervisor of NREP's wild rivers program, who was preparing for a three-day trip down the entire 17-mile length of Rockcastle River in southeastern Kentucky.

"Streams selected for the wild rivers system must be free-flowing, aesthetically pleasing and essentially free from the works of man," Van Hoose added. "We try to keep them that way."

Van Hoose and his staff monitor each of the state's eight wild rivers.

The state's 1972 general assembly originally selected parts of five rivers — Cumberland, Red, Rockcastle, Green and Big South Fork of the Cumberland — for protection under the Wild Rivers Act. In 1974 these were supplemented by the addition of portions of the Little South Fork of the Cumberland River, Rock and Martin's Fork creeks.

To conduct the checkups, the wild rivers staff usually walk or drive along the side of some of the rivers or float down the others. "Because parts of the Rockcastle are so remote," said Van Hoose, "the only way we can observe it is by floating down it. We've previously floated down the Green River, Little South Fork and some of the Cumberland. We can usually walk along the side of the others — Red River, Rock Creek, Martin's Fork and most of the Cumberland. This will be the first time we've covered the Rockcastle all at once — and the entire length of the Big South Fork is another future project."

One of the main details Van Hoose looks for during a checkup is signs of violations of wild rivers regulations. The wild rivers staff prefers preventive medicine to remedial — they try to prevent violations rather than penalizing people afterwards. If they do find violations, they report them to the department's legal staff, who then take measures to remedy the situation.

"On the whole," Van Hoose said, "the wild rivers system is in good shape. Although we've checked their conditions regularly on a limited basis for about two years, we're particularly scrutinizing them this year because we've found a few violations. However, in the three years since the program began, we've taken legal action against only three people. Most of the time we can keep things from happening simply by talking to people and explaining the law."

Another top priority during an examination is a visit to prospective strip mine sites within the wild rivers areas. Whenever an application is made for a permit to strip-mine within 10 miles of the drainage area of a wild river, the wild rivers staff examines the site along with a division of reclamation engineer. They can then recommend to the division of reclamation how the mining operation could be performed to least damage the wild river.

The wild rivers staff also monitors unusual conditions on the river. "For instance," explained Van Hoose, "one private landowner is now charging a fee for people to back pack or camp overnight on his land, which is located on the Menifee County side of the wild river portion of the Red river, where most of the traffic is. He furnishes litter bags to the visitors and tells them to bring out their trash. And, it's working quite well — they are keeping the area clean."

Pre-School Being Conducted As Part Of Rehabilitation Plan

PURDY, Wash. (AP) — The teachers at 4-year-old Raymond Cantwell's nursery school are convicts, and the classroom is behind locked prison doors.

Raymond tells his mother that school is "terrific," and she says, "If it's good for Raymond, that's all that matters."

Raymond is one of 12 youngsters, aged 3 to 5, in a pre-school program that is part of an experimental prisoner rehabilitation project at the Women's Treatment Center, a minimum security prison in this community near Tacoma.

Mrs. Cantwell says, "Other people sort of give me weird looks when I tell them about the school, but it doesn't bother me."

The program started last week. Two inmates serve as daily supervisors for the playing children, and a professional teacher, Bobbie Chapman, oversees their activities.

Most of the women in the program have been convicted on drug charges or drug-related robbery or forgery charges.

All are members of a child development class. So far, four women have completed the six months training required for the preschool program, but prison officials say they expect about 24 others to be ready next year.

None of the women was immediately available for interviews, but Mrs. Chapman said the experience has made many of them re-evaluate their roles as mothers.

"I see a lot of women here whose children have been taken from them," she said. "They see themselves as pretty poor mothers, but this class gives them an opportunity to improve their image."

The nursery school is operating on a one-year federal grant of $19,522, and future funding will depend on the success of the program this year. Prison officials say the project was in the development stage for three years.

Laurie Kennedy says she had some second thoughts about sending her daughter to the school.

"But after seeing how well the women work with the children, I feel comfortable with it now," Mrs. Kennedy said.

"Most of the women are mothers, too, and they're definitely not going to do anything to hurt a 3-year-old child,"

Facial Deformity To End For Youngsters After New Surgery

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A lifetime of facial deformity is coming to an end for five youngsters here—thanks to a French doctor who has developed a new surgical technique.

Dr. Paul Tessier spent a day examining the five, who range in age from 10 to 17, and discussing possible surgery with their parents. In about a year, he will return here to perform the operations.

Although all five have technically different deformities, they look about the same—as if their faces were caved in from just above the mouth to just below the eyes.

In the shortest possible description, you'd picture them as "grotesque," said Dr. Mark W. Kohn, chairman of the University of Kentucky's Department of Oral Surgery.

Through an invitation from Dr. Kohn's department, Dr. Tessier made his first visit to Lexington, although he has operated on about 90 persons in this country before.

His surgical technique involves restructuring not only the facial tissue, but the skeleton of the head as well. He has performed about half of nearly 1,000 such operations worldwide, he said.

"First we put pieces of the face or the whole face in normal position," Dr. Tessier said in an interview. "Second, we replace missing parts of the skeleton by bone graft."

The parents of all five youngsters have agreed to the surgery, Dr. Tessier said, and it will be performed on his next visit to this country—probably next October or November.

Dr. Kohn explained that the deformity is caused by growth centers in the brain that, instead of functioning properly, fused or froze early—like in the first year of life or in the womb.

"As a result," Dr. Kohn continued, "it affected the growth of the middle part of the face. . . it did not grow, it did not develop."

Since the youngsters here are, for the most part, finished with their growing process, Dr. Tessier expects that a single operation will give them normal features for life.

Normally, he prefers to operate on younger children, sparing them the psychological shock of going through years of being deformed.

Before surgery, he said, they also have trouble breathing through the nose and have no protection for their eyes, which protrude.

However, he said, surgery early in life—about the age to start to school—means that a second operation is necessary when the growth process stops in the teens.

Dr. Tessier has performed his surgical technique in such cities as New York, Boston, Chicago, Houston, San Francisco and Montreal.

While here, he not only examined the five youngsters, but held consultations for medical people in a number of disciplines at the university.

'Fly-In Mini Vacation' Planned At Rough River

Flyers who can "rev" up their engines and round up some friends will surely want to plan to attend a special fun weekend in their honor at Kentucky's Rough River Dam State Resort Park for their "Fly-In Mini Vacation," October 31-November 3, 1975.

The park's "Fly-In Mini Vacation" will feature special meetings of interest to pilots, but only on Saturday; the balance of time, pilots and their guests will be free to enjoy the many recreational activities at the park such as archery, boating, fishing, golf, hiking, shuffleboard and tennis.

Saturday's schedule includes a Bi-Annual Flight Review, Courtesy Flight Checks and a briefing on FAA new regulations.

Visitors for the entire weekend can take advantage of a special package price of $37.00 per person which includes two night's lodging and six meals. Regular rates are applicable for a limited visit.

The lodge and dining room are within walking distance of the airport.

Persons interested in attending the "Fly-In Mini Vacation" should make their plans as soon as possible to insure reservations. They may do so by dialing the Department of Parks central reservations toll-free numbers: In Kentucky 1-800-372-2961, in surrounding states, 1-800-628-2911.

For visitors who want to drive to the park instead of fly, Rough River Dam State Park, Falls of Rough, Kentucky, is approximately 70 miles southwest of Louisville on Highway Ky-79 between Leitchfield (on Ky-54) and Hardinsburg.

Agency Intercepted Calls Involving Anti-War Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Security Agency intercepted more than 1,000 telephone and telegraph communications involving antiwar activists and other dissidents and reported on them to the CIA and the FBI, according to informed sources.

The NSA intercepts began in 1969 and continued for "a two- or three-year period," detailing the foreign travels and organizing efforts of various American radicals whose names had been provided to NSA by CIA, the sources said.

Summaries of the intercepted communications were transmitted via courier from NSA headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md., to CIA offices in Langley, Va., where they became part of the files of Operation CHAOS, which monitored the activities of domestic dissidents, sources said.

Similar summaries went to other government agencies, including the FBI and Defense Intelligence Agency, a separate source said.

The same source confirmed that Dr. Benjamin Spock, actress Jane Fonda, Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver and Chicago Seven defendants Abbie Hoffman and David Dellinger were targets of NSA intercepts. However, the source would not say whether those names had been supplied to the NSA by the CIA or some other agency.

Spock, author of a best-selling book on child care and a third-party presidential candidate in 1972, said later, "If our government would put its efforts and our tax money into creating a more just society rather than snooping on citizens who differ with them, America would be impregnable."

A source who had seen the NSA summaries provided to the CIA said they were derived from intercepts of cable and telephone traffic between the U.S. and foreign countries or between two points overseas.

None of the sources could give a reliable estimate of the number of persons whose communications were intercepted. However, comments of several sources indicated the CIA gave at least 40 names to the NSA.

In another development, a former Pentagon investigator said Monday he was told by the White House to develop evidence that syndicated columnist Jack Anderson had a homosexual relationship with a suspected news source, Navy Yeoman Charles Radford.

W. Donald Stewart, who was in charge of the investigation into news leaks, said the demand was made on Dec. 23, 1971, by David Young, then the Nixon administration official in charge of the White House "plumbers" unit.

Stewart stressed that Young did not suggest to him that he fabricate a homosexual relationship between Anderson and Radford.

"They didn't want me to go trump up anything," Stewart said. "They wanted me to go interview (Radford) and ask him, 'Do you have any homosexual relationship with Jack Anderson?'"

Stewart said he refused Young's demand, telling him it "was not germane to the investigation." According to Stewart, Young responded, "Well, the President wants this done, the President wants this done."

"I told him no, I wouldn't do it," Stewart said. "If he wanted it done get somebody else."

Council Calls For Pharmacists To Do More Than Dispense Drugs

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Pharmacists are not functioning at full potential if all they do is distribute drugs, according to the state Council on Public Higher Education.

Change in the pharmacist's traditional role was among the recommendations in a 124-page report to pharmacy education released Monday by the council.

The report is one of a series being prepared as part of a comprehensive sciences education plan for the state.

The council said the comprehensive study is the "first such effort in the state's history."

If implemented, the recommendations could lead to "significant changes in pharmaceutical education and practice in Kentucky," the council said, adding that they would also provide "a rational basis for pharmacy manpower training—something Kentucky has never had."

Among the other recommendations is one urging the state to support expansion of a readily available, statewide drug information system as a means of improving the quality of health care.

The report also recommended that the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy focus on research into drug use and abuse as an element in improving total health care.

The recommendations were made in light of widespread inappropriate use of drugs and what the report said is a gap between what health science and technology can do and what is actually being done.

The report also recommended that emphasis be placed on the recruitment and enrollment in pharmacy schools of applicants from racial minorities.

It said special consideration should be given to students who are willing to commit themselves to practice in areas of geographic need.

The report recommended that the governor establish a review committee on professional licensure to study and recommend change in the role and function of state health professions licensing laws.

It recommended that an experimental program be set up to explore the role of pharmacy support personnel, and that standards of practice competency be developed and opportunities for continuing education provided.

The report was prepared by a special ad hoc study group on pharmacy named by a task group of the council.

Documentation Of White-Collar Crime On Increase, Levi Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi says the documentation of white-collar crime has undergone a "disturbing increase" in the past year but that the Justice Department doesn't need a special unit to prosecute corporate crimes.

Levi announced his decision against forming a permanent division within the department in a letter to four members of Congress and consumer advocate Ralph Nader. The letter was released Monday.

"It may be debated, of course, whether (the increase in documented white-collar crime) reflects a deterioration in standards of corporate conduct or an increase in the reporting of violations or more strenuous efforts to ferret out and prosecute violations," Levi wrote to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., a cosigner of the original request.

Levi went on to say the department's existing criminal, tax and antitrust divisions are adequate to cope with white-collar crime. He said a special advisory committee within the department "currently is reviewing existing programs and efforts in this complex field and is making recommendations for some procedural changes."

The attorney general said the committee, created earlier this year, includes 11 top department officials, including the director of the FBI and the U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York.

To demonstrate what he said was the Justice Department's concern about white-collar crime, Levi pointed to recent convictions of a corporation and its two top officers on tax fraud charges, and he wrote that "at least 11 other major corporations are currently under investigation for similar offenses."

Levi also said "in excess of 50 investigations in the area of illegal political contributions" are currently pending at Justice. Levi did not name any of the corporations or officers.

Nader later issued a statement saying Levi's "response does not reflect a sense of urgency over our corporate crime wave."

"A crescendo of illegal business disclosures since the beginning of the year should lead Mr. Levi to let us know his own views on this epidemic...."

In their Aug. 22 letter to Levi, Nader and the lawmakers wrote, "An unprecedented wave of corporate illegality has been sweeping the business community." They asked that a new division be given authority to "investigate and prosecute a wide range of business crime, from mail fraud to regulatory offenses to illegal distribution of political contributions or bribes, here or abroad, by corporate officers or their agents."

Reps. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y.; Toby Moffett, D-Conn.; and Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., and Nader associate Mark Green also signed the letter.

Life insurance purchases up

The amount of life insurance bought by Americans last year reached $298 billion, a climb of nearly $64 billion over 1973.

The largest amount of coverage purchased in 1974 — more than three-fifths — was ordinary life insurance.

Bids Invited On State Improvements

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Kentucky Department of Transportation has begun inviting bids from contractors on highway improvement projects in 24 Kentucky counties.

The bids will be opened and publicly read here at 10 a. m., Thursday, Oct. 16, in the State Office Building Auditorium.

The following are among the projects included in the Oct. 16 letting:

—Davies County — repairs to the deck of the bridge over the Ohio River on the Owensboro-Patronsville, Ind. Road (US 231);

—Kenton County — safety improvements on the Covington - Independence-

Nicholson Road (KY 17) just north of its junction with KY 16 and extending to KY 1501 — a distance of approximately four miles;

—Magoffin-Morgan counties — repairs to two bridges over the Licking River on the Salsbery-West Liberty Road (US 460);

—Marshall County — construction of two additional ramps at the US 68 Interchange of the Jackson Purchase Parkway;

—Webster County — construction of four bridges on Dixon-Caly Road (KY 1340), all of which are to be located between 3.1 and 3.9 miles west of US 41-A.

State Republicans To Turn Cancelled Visit Into Rally

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Republicans plan to turn a cancelled presidential dinner at Louisville into an anti-busing rally.

Executive Director Larry Van Hoose said the Thursday event is tentative, but that GOP gubernatorial nominee Robert Gable would be among the speakers.

The president cancelled a scheduled visit to Louisville that day, with the White House citing expected anti-busing protests.

Van Hoose said Monday that Congressman Gene Snyder of Jeffersonton and Shirley Palmer-Ball, the GOP nominee for lieutenant governor, would be among other speakers at any anti-busing rally.

Gable hopes to find fertile ground in the Louisville area for votes from anti-busing opponents.

Court-ordered busing on a mass basis started last month and there have been protest demonstrations and sometimes disorders almost daily since.

Democratic Gov. Julian Carroll, seeking a full term, also has put himself forth as an anti-busing spokesman, but the Jefferson County backlash is seen as mainly against any incumbents.

Meantime, the state GOP clung to the dwindling possibility of a visit to Frankfort by the president.

Van Hoose said the Republicans have reserved Convention Center in this capital city on a hold basis for next Monday through Thursday.

He said word is awaited from the White House, which he said is considering a presidential visit despite the earlier cancellation.

However, a spokesman for presidential press secretary Ron Nessen said the White House has no information on the matter.

Van Hoose said the anti-busing rally would be held even if a presidential visit was in the offing. He said it would be open to the public without charge.

There was no estimate on the number of persons who bought $100 tickets to the cancelled presidential dinner. But Van Hoose said they would be able to use those tickets for another dinner before the election—presidential or otherwise.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1975

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

You have the inside track in a number of ways — if you will just recognize opportunities when available and handle them in your usual clever manner.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Excellent Venus influences! Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost to advance your interests. Creative pursuits especially favored.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Do not wait for opportunities to materialize "out of the blue." Seek them out yourself. A period for exercising your lively imagination and innate ingenuity.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may be indecisive now, not knowing which way to turn but, as with Gemini, don't wait for "inspiration" to help you. Get going and let past procedures guide.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Avoid tendencies toward impulsiveness. Make no hasty judgments and don't jump to unwarranted conclusions or you could make serious errors.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Personal matters may be troubling you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be careful in whom you confide and respect confidences given you. Some tendencies toward mischief-making prevalent.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Brace yourself for some opposition now. If you are prepared, you can cope with it more easily.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 24 to Dec. 21)

A good work day if you keep up to snuff, well organized, reasonably systematic, yet with mind flexible enough to accept new and progressive methods and ideas.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Judgment should be more accurate now than it has been for the past couple of days. A good day for making long-range plans, making important decisions.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Inner excitement and overoptimism could send you off the sound path, in both thought and action. Make a special effort to maintain composure.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

You could overstep limits now if too strong a desire for a certain attainment causes you to strive and press beyond what is wise under present circumstances.

YOU BORN TODAY are enthusiastic about life and people generally; are reserved, dignified and well-poised. All this, if true to the Libran's finest side, which also includes a talent for adapting to unusual and difficult situations, stamina in emergencies, and a practical mind which also delights in the artistic. Career fields in which you could especially excel: literature, the theater, painting, the law, statesmanship and medicine. Birthdate of: Eugene O'Neill, Amer. playwright; David Ben-Gurion, first prime minister of Israel.

Regional Conservation Workshops Announced

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Julian Carroll has announced that Kentucky's 3,000 manufacturers will soon be receiving invitations to seven regional energy conservation workshops designed to prepare Kentucky industries for an environment in which interstate supplies of natural gas for industrial uses may be unavailable by 1980.

"The increasing shortages of natural gas for industry make conservation an absolute must for Kentucky manufacturers," Gov. Carroll said. "The seminars will educate our industries on methods of conserving energy and use of alternate fuels."

According to Kentucky Energy Commissioner Damon Harrison, the seminars, which are a joint undertaking of the Energy Department and the University of Kentucky College of Engineering, are "only the beginning of a broad, continuing conservation program which will involve government, schools, hospitals, businesses and the general public."

"A top priority of the energy department is to keep Kentucky industry operating so that people will have jobs," he said. "This can only be accomplished if industrial firms install adequate standby facilities for alternate fuels and conserve in every way possible, particularly in the use of natural gas."

Program participants will include engineering specialists from the university, representatives of utilities serving each area where the seminars are held and officers of firms which have already established effective conservation programs.

Harrison said that specific locations have not been set in each city where the workshops will be held, but they will begin in Lexington on Oct. 28. Other workshops are scheduled for Louisville, Oct. 30; Covington, Nov. 5; Ashland, Nov. 11; Somerset, Nov. 13; Bowling Green, Nov. 19; and in Paducah on Nov. 20.

The department will also sponsor a "Focusing on Energy" conference in January at Lexington, with primary emphasis on improving the energy efficiency of buildings. That conference will be cosponsored by the UK Office of Continuing Education and aimed primarily at architects and consulting engineers. The conference will cover information useful in designing buildings more efficiently.

Parents Did Not Give Permission To Turn Off Child's Support System

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The parents of a youth who died after his life-support system was shut off say they did not give doctors permission to unhook a respirator that kept their son alive for 18 days after his brain was destroyed through medical error.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Uribe said they did not know how their 19-year-old son, Sammy, died until they read in the newspapers that the hospital had disconnected the respirator that had kept him breathing.

In a report filed Sept. 11 by Valley Medical Center's chief resident surgeon, Dr. Michael Freeman, the hospital said Sammy's brain died during surgery when an anesthetist placed an oxygen tube in his esophagus instead of his trachea, cutting off the oxygen supply to his brain for about five minutes.

The report said doctors informed the Uribes that Sammy's brain had died and that the couple agreed the respirator should be shut off.

The hospital said the mistake made by the anesthetist, who has since been fired, was "contributory" to Sammy's death. George Carter, attorney for the Uribes, said the couple "never consented to taking him off (the respirator). They were told that the hospital had decided after a staff meeting to turn off the respirator."

In similar cases in Ohio and New Jersey, parents initiated requests to unhook life-support systems from their comatose children, only to be refused by doctors who maintain they have no legal right to do so.

In Sammy Uribe's case, the parents say they did not ask doctors to let their son die.

Sammy was taken to the hospital on Aug. 10 for treatment of a stab wound in the abdomen. It was when surgeons were trying to repair his punctured stomach that the mistake was made by the anesthetist.

He was placed on a mechanical respirator to keep him alive until Aug. 28, when a medical center doctor shut the machine off and Sammy died, according to Freeman's report.

"This is a strange case," said attorney George Carter. "The parents came to me after they found out, not from the hospital but through the newspapers, how their son died."

"It's a unique situation when it's the hospital's negligence that causes the boy to be in the position he's in, then they make the decision to take him off the respirator."

Lauren Bowytz, associate administrator at the hospital, declined to comment on the case, except to say, "We would not take him off the respirator unless it was absolutely warranted."

Actually, whether the Uribes consented to termination of the life-support system is legally a moot point because California law prohibits ending any patient's life, even if parents give their consent, Carter said. And in Sammy's case, his parents could not have made such a decision for him because he was not a minor, Carter said.

In recent weeks, the legal and medical controversy over whether death can be defined as cessation of brain activity has become more heated. Death is generally defined as when breathing stops.

Medical technology can keep a patient "alive" by mechanically regulating breathing and essential bodily functions, but once the brain is destroyed there is no way to return the patient to a normal life. The patient, legally alive, becomes a "vegetable" incapable of thought or communication.

Interracial Ministry Conference Scheduled

Mid-Continent Baptist Bible College is host to a conference on Interracial Ministry October 20-22, 1975. This conference is directed by William H. Rogers, Director of Cooperative Ministries: Christian Life of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, offices in Middletown, Kentucky.

Featured on the program, along with Mr. Rogers, are Reverend Thurmond Coleman, pastor of First Baptist Church, Jeffersonville, and Reverend Lincoln Bingham, pastor of West End Baptist Church, Louisville.

The theme of the Tuesday evening session is "Worship in the Black Church," and the outline of the schedule is as follows: (1) Worship Motif-Rogers; (2) Music in the Black Church - Thurmond Coleman; (3) Preaching in the Black Church - Lincoln Bingham; and (4) Dialogue with students, faculty, and guests.

Bill Rogers tells us that Thurmond Coleman "is a gifted man in the area of music; he is an open and congenial man and will bless the hearts of those who participate." He also tells us that "Lincoln Bingham is a capable preacher and knowledgeable of the history of preaching in the Black Church."

Rogers states furthermore that "both of these men are leaders in the General Association (Black Baptists) and will contribute richly to the experience of Mid-Continent." And he adds, "We look forward to our stay on your campus."

Mid-Continent invites the general public, far and near, to attend this conference. We feel honored to have these men on our campus, and we are glad to share this blessing with all who will attend. There will be morning, afternoon, and evening sessions Monday, October 20, and Tuesday, October 21, and a morning session Wednesday, October 22. You are invited.

NEW EVIDENCE ON HEART DISEASE

For years researchers have pointed to the Japanese as having far fewer heart attacks and they have credited this to the diet of the Japanese. Specifically, it has been said that the Japanese diet features fish and rice and is much lower in the fats common to the meat, dairy and fried foods loved by Americans.

Rarely, of course, was it ever pointed out that the Japanese have more strokes. Emphasized instead was statistical evidence that as Japanese migrated to Hawaii or America, heart disease increased, supposedly because of a more American diet.

BUT NOW there is evidence produced at the University of California at Berkeley that Japanese in America have more heart disease if they subscribe to American aggressive ways.

In a ten-year study of some 4,000 Japanese men living in the San Francisco area, those men who clung to their traditional Japanese life style (which "defuses tension by emphasizing acceptance of the individual's place in both family and society") have fewer coronaries. Even those who indulge in high-fat diets are better off than their American counterparts.

But if the Japanese men "adopt the aggressive, competitive and impatient traits of most Americans" they can suffer up to two-and-one-half to five times as many heart attacks as those who continue to follow Japanese ways.

ON THE HEELS of this news, the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) published a final report from the research of Drs. Meyer Friedman and Ray Rosenman of San Francisco.

These are the men who believe "Type A Behavior" is the dominant factor in heart disease. A "Type A" man is aggressive, impatient and so forth and has more heart disease. The JAMA report reaffirmed the earlier Friedman-Rosenman findings.

THUS, doctors now have more evidence that it is our emotional patterns and our ways of responding to our responsibilities and life around us that may be critical in whether we will or will not have a heart attack.

As readers of this column know, I don't believe in drastic diet changes for fear of heart disease unless your own physician prescribes such dietary change.
